TWO KILLED AS AUTO CLIMBS EMBANKMENT

Machine Overturns When Steering
Gear Goes Wrong.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 14.—The State Police last night found the bodies of William J. Worth and William McClaime of Wildwood, N. J., under an overturned automobile in Tuckahoe Road, near Hammonton, N. J.

The police said the automobile evidently turned turtle when taking a turn at high speed. It had skidded up the side of an embankment, ploughed up the earth for twenty feet, then toppled over, crushing the two men underneath.

Worth, who was forty, was a storekeeper of Wildwood and McClaime was proprietor of the Pacific Hotel there. It is believed something went wrong with the steering gear, causing the car to swerve to one side and overturn.

In spite of the fact that they cost the repairman more, the price of O'Sullivan's Safety Cushion Heels to you is generally the same as the price of ordinary heels.

The repairman has two reasons for accepting this smaller profit: first, because O'Sullivan's always make satisfied customers—second, because the good-will of these customers builds bigger business for him. Ask for O'Sullivan's when you leave your shoes—see that they are attached.
